eople love legends like Gurdas Mann and Harbhajan Mann and their music has become popular internationally, one could well imagine that they have made their contribution to the society. However, it is a matter of concern when the younger generation picks up the initiative to provide what the need of the hour is. While people think that the youth and its music is going to the dogs there are some who give the world a ray of hope with their will to take on an industry that thrives on masala, sex and money.

Lovdeep and Manjot, both in their early twenties say that while they do face the daunting reality of having to compete against the odds they are happy that they are doing what they like... we have friends and friends of friends who epitomize the callousness of youth; but that does not mean that we don't have friends who also display a great sense of responsibility. The duo just released their album in the city.

While subjects like the global economy and female feticide could be of the least concern to them, they sing of the plight of the youth of Punjab and the farmers who have given up their farming land to be developed. While these subjects may not be those that attract the mind when spoken about, they sure catch the attention when they are sung about.
